I love the strong characters and how well developed the story flowed. It wasn't rushed or skipped that the reader becomes confused or felt like they missed something.

It started off with promise but

Then it was rush rush rush. The story felt rushed...reading the conversation between two characters was like reading in fast forward. Seriously so many things could be possible with this story but less than half way through it was put on speed... it was at a fast pace to begin with..anyway sort fast read that could have been so much more.
