An Interracial Romance from Amazon's Bestselling Author of Baby Wanted

Forty-two-year-old Marcelle "MJ" Jeffreys knew it was time to get rid of the excess baggage weighing her down. She had a list: Divorce her cheating husband. Check. Quit her dead-end job. Check. Return to the Big Apple. Check. Only one item remains: Get rid of the junk-in-her-trunk. The last thing she expects is to be attracted to her personal fitness trainer. Not only is Dylan McCoy a man from her past, he's younger, which gives the prospect of pursuing this interracial romance a bit daunting for "MJ".

Dylan owns his own business, has a body made in the gym, and the pick of any woman he wants. Yet none of those women have the qualities he wants in a life partner. When "MJ" walks into his fitness center, her warm smile and sexy curves knock him down like a hundred-pound weight, and he wants nothing more than to start a steamy multicultural romance with this stunning African American. Now all he has to do is prove to her that age is just a number and he's counting down the moments until she's his.

Forever.

Great touch of suspense!

By Felicia

Truly enjoyed this romance with a heroine who is 40+ and a plus-sized woman!

After barely surviving an abusive marriage, Marcelle is rebuilding a life for her and her autistic, teen daughter. While that would be enough for any woman, the brother of her best friend is interested in her...and he's YOUNGER. I could relate to Marcelle's dilemma because I'm not into younger men, but I think she was way too dramatic. Probably because of her recent past, but dramatic none-the-less. She created problems for herself because of rushed decisions and over analyzing things. She placed much too much value on what OTHER people MIGHT think of her - much too exhausting. She also carried too much guilt from her marriage. Blaming herself for her ex's issues is typical from what I understand about abused women, but when she fought back, SHE FOUGHT BACK! Loved it! Rod, you are the jerk of the world!

Loved Dylan! Most definitely mature beyond his years, his sincerity leaped off the pages! He loved her, he wanted her, but he was not going to be a yo-yo. BUT...he seemed to appear just when she needed him most. That would have sealed the deal for me.

The author's edgy suspense with the stalker was straight out of an old-fashioned whodunit! Just when you think you've got it figured out - SURPRISE! Excellent mis-direction!

At first, I thought the ending was a bit too rushed, but then I considered just how long they'd known each other, and what it took to get them together (FINALLY!), and then I was happy with - and for - them both.

I whole-heartedly recommend this sweet love story.

Age Is Just A Number!!!

By stella1999

I was one of the lucky few who received an ARC copy of this book in exchange for an honest review. I must start off by saying I especially loved this book because MJ was an older woman and Dylan was much younger man. MJ moved back home and is starting over after an abusive marriage & messy divorce, boring job and having a child with autism. Dylan is her best friend's brother whom she has had feelings for since they were younger. Come to find out Dylan has had feelings for MJ too back then. She decides to join a gym which she later finds out that Dylan owns. Their feelings for each other surface but MJ has a major problem with the age difference. Dylan sees nothing wrong and continues to pursue MJ. I don't want to give away too much but I'm glad MJ wised up and got her feelings for Dylan in check. Dylan amazed me by how he dealt with Sadie. The ex husband got what he deserves. This story shows that older women can still pull them young men. It made it more special because they are interracial. Looking for the follow-up story. Great Job Roxy!!

Fun steamy IR read

By yurika975

This is the first book I have read from the author, and will be looking for more. I enjoyed the romance of an older woman and younger man. I enjoy IR and found this to be great and an interesting read. There were several laugh out loud moments. I like that the guy owned his own business, a gym. I also liked that the female lead did not obsess over her looks and deem herself unworthy because she wasn't stick thin. Her issue was the age difference. I will admit to being exasperated, like Dylan. However I am glad that he hung in for the long haul. There was also a history of abuse with MJ, so it made sense with her being skeptical. The daughter's autism was an interesting touch and timely. I have family members with it and it is nice to have this addressed in novels. it added a touch of realism.
